

Kani couldn't eat the persimmon seed, so she took it home.

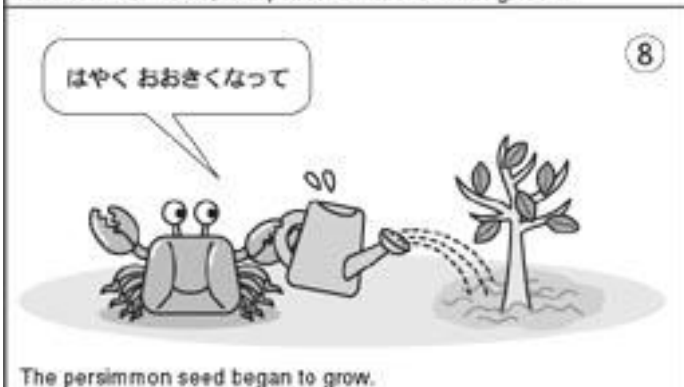

Once upon a time, Kani and Saru went for a walk together.

Kani returned home, and planted the seed in her garden.

Along the way, Kani found an onigiri and Saru found a persimmon seed.

The persimmon seed began to grow.

Saru tried to persuade Kani to exchange the onigiri for the seed.

Kani watered the plant every day and it grew into a big tree.

Saru offered Kani the persimmon seed.

When the tree was full of beautiful persimmons, Saru came to see Kani.

Saru quickly took the onigiri and ate it.
